The market this week did bounce as expected. We did see record temperatures around the country start to break and this did bring some added buying power back to the market. Lighter weight cattle this week called steady to better with most of the slight up coming on the higher quality cattle with favorable condition or a wean and the proper shots. The middle and heavier weights showing most of the added demand called $5 to $10 higher compared to the last two weeks. Again, all the improved demand coming on the better end of the cattle. Plainer and off cattle still struggling to find new homes, one would expect this to be the case for the remainder of the fall. All in all we did see the feeder market jump back to what we were seeing three weeks ago or longer with the lighter ones improving some fully steady for the most part. Butcher cows on the flipside showing no real improvement this week called steady at best with plants still having problems. We look for the next week to be better as they get chain speed more back to normal! As stated before it is now bull sale season and time to make genetic selections. This is a very important time so take the time to evaluate your options as the proper choices will pay dividends for years to come. As always if you have questions or need anything at all please don't hesitate to call anytime.

.....See you at Ringside....Randy
